Growing Orchids Outdoors With Your Bromeliads

Mary Gerritsen is an independent biotechnology consultant who's been growing orchids (mostly species) on and off for more than 30 years since relocating to the San Francisco bay area in 1997. She started with a collection of cool growing species and loves to see orchids growing in Situ. Over the last few years she has made several trips to see and photograph orchids as well as other Flora, including Bromeliads.

She is the co-author with Ron Parsons, of several botanical books including A Bay Area Guide To Orchids And Their Culture.

Her show will be about growing orchids outdoors with your bromeliads. It is a treat to have her speak to us and you should come away inspired. She will also bring copies of her book Growing Orchids Outdoors In The Bay Area to sell at the meeting.

Roger Lane signed up for refreshments this month. Thanks in advance to all members who come up with delicious goodies.
